Embodying Respect

Dustin Henderson &
Amanda (Strickland) Henderson
Class of 2003

After graduating from CCC, Dustin received a Bachelor of Science in Business Administration from the Citadel and Amanda received a Bachelor of Science in English Education from Florida State University. Dustin currently works as a financial advisor at All Seasons Wealth and Amanda teaches English and Language Arts for the Pinellas County School system.

Dustin and Amanda are passionate supporters of CCC and remaining to be active alums in our community. The couple initiated and continue to fund The Amanda (Strickland) Henderson and Dustin Henderson Scholarship, providing tuition assistance to CCC students who might no otherwise be able to afford a Catholic education. They also serve as the class of 2003's representatives for the Ignite Tomorrow, Today capital campaign.

The Henderson's have two future Marauders, Sydney and Harper, who attend Holy Family Catholic School where the Henderson's are very involved. Amanda serves as the secretary on the Home and School Board for Holy Family and has chaired several of the school's fundraisers, while Dustin is the head of the Dad's Club. Amanda also serves on the event committee for Babycycle, a nonprofit organization that helps families with young children in need and provides disaster relief. Dustin works with Friends of Raymond James, Tampa Connection, and Instruments 4 Life.

When asked why they felt it was important to stay connected to CCC, they responded, "We both are avid supporters of education and it only makes sense to stay connected to the high school that gave us such a strong foundation on which to build our college and professional careers. We know CCC is such a big part of our story and we wouldn't be who we are today without the academics and values that CCC instilled in us and so many others. We want to see CCC continue its legacy of providing an excellent education and Catholic values to many more generations that have the opportunity to walk through its doors."
