

Embodying Respect

Steve Piazza
Class of 1982

Steve Piazza graduated from CCC in 1982. As a Marauder, Steve played varsity football. After graduating, Steve continued his education at Loyola University New Orleans where he graduated from the school of Business Administration with a major in management and a minor in finance.

In 2001, Steve founded Senior Management Advisors (SMA) and is the current president for this company whose mission is to maximize the value of their client's assets and exceed all performance expectations. With a belief that "Everyone is Family", SMA emphasizes home, community, and family and specializes in rejuvenating and stabilizing full service independent living, assisted living, and Alzheimer's communities for owners, financial institutions, private investors and government agencies.

Steve's dedication, commitment and beneficence to Clearwater Central Catholic High School and to the local community is the reason for his nomination. He has served as a member of the CCC Advisory Council since 2014 and as a member of the CCC Executive Council since 2016. A generous donor, Steve is a consistent sponsor of CCC events and was one of the first to commit to the current Ignite Tomorrow, Today Capital Campaign. Steve's presence as a parent, alumnus, benefactor and volunteer is noticed and felt throughout our campus and community.

We are honored to recognize Steve's dedication and generous support to CCC by presenting him with the Distinguished Alumni Award for Embodying Respect.

Steve and his wife Angela are the proud parents of Andrew '18 and Sienna '20. Steve's family is one of our CCC legacy families, with Sue McIntosh '80, Sally Burks '81, Carol Montie '84, Paula '85, and Nadine Baldwin '88.
